TITLE II

EXCEPTIONS

Section 9

Exemptions to the sanctions regime

- (1) The Financial Analysis Office (hereinafter referred to as the "Office") may, if permitted by the content of the document pursuant to Section 2, allow exemptions from the prohibition or restriction in accordance with this document and to the extent necessary
 - a) to provide treatment and medical care,
 - b) for the provision of humanitarian aid, unless limited in a document according to Section 2; the supply of food, clothing, medicine, medical supplies and other humanitarian needs necessary for the protection of health, saving life and dignified accommodation of civilians and the provision of related services, including the organization and implementation of rescue operations, are considered to be such aid,
 - c) for the provision of social welfare benefits, state social benefits, pension insurance benefits, sickness insurance (care) benefits, unemployment support, retraining support and for payments of social security premiums and contributions to the state employment policy and premiums for general health insurance,
 - d) for the provision of wages, wage compensation, severance pay and other payments resulting from employment law or a similar employment relationship,
 - e) for the provision of alimony,
 - f) for compensation for damage caused by activities unrelated to the implementation of international sanctions within the meaning of this Act, and for the payment of insurance premiums associated with it,
 - g) for the payment of a claim by an entity subject to international sanctions or a person subject to international sanctions, if this claim did not arise due to a violation of international sanctions,
 - h) to payments to an entity or person subject to international sanctions, owed on the basis of contracts, agreements or obligations that were concluded or arose before international sanctions were announced against the entity or person, if these payments are made to an account in the Czech Republic republic or in another state of the European Union where all deposited funds are property subject to international sanctions, or
 - i) for another purpose, specified in the document according to Section 2 letter c) or e).
- (2) An exemption is to be granted upon request or without a request. In the decision to grant the exemption, the Office sets the conditions for its application in such a way that it can control its application and in such a way that the purpose of international sanctions is not thwarted. In the event of a serious breach of the conditions for applying the exemption, the Office will revoke it.

- (3) A repeated application for an exemption pursuant to paragraph 1 can only be submitted if reasons are given which have not been previously claimed in the application and which may justify a different outcome of the decision to grant an exemption.
- (4) An exemption shall not be granted if its provision would be in conflict with the foreign policy interest of the Czech Republic or could endanger public order or the security of the Czech Republic.
- (5) In the justification of the decision according to paragraph 3 or 4, only the general facts on the basis of which the exemption was not granted shall be stated.

PART THREE

OBLIGATIONS IN RELATION TO PROPERTY SUBJECT TO INTERNATIONAL SANCTIONS

Section 10

Notification obligation

- (1) Anyone who becomes aware in a credible manner that he or she is in possession of property subject to international sanctions is obliged to notify the Office without undue delay. The right to use data under the Digital Services Act does not apply in relation to this notification.
- (2) If, in the course of the preparation or conclusion of a contract, a suspicion arises that one of the parties to the contractual relationship is subject to international sanctions, or that the subject of the contractual relationship is or should be property subject to international sanctions, but this suspicion cannot be verified reliably before or at the time of concluding the contract, the notification obligation pursuant to paragraph 1 arises immediately after the conclusion of the contract.
- (3) The notification is submitted in writing or orally to the protocol.

Section 11

Disposition of property subject to international sanctions

- (1) Anyone who has credible knowledge that he or she has property subject to which international sanctions apply, may not deal with this property other than for the purpose of protecting it from loss, impairment, destruction or other damage, unless specified in this Act otherwise, from the moment it learns that the property is considered to be property subject to international sanctions.
- (2) A person who has property to which international sanctions apply is entitled to claim against the state compensation for necessary costs related to its management and protection from the moment of delivery of the notification to the Office pursuant to Section 10. Persons or entities subject to international sanctions, nor persons cooperating with them, close to them, or connected with them in a business or other way are not entitled to reimbursement of costs pursuant to this provision.
- (3) If there is any doubt that the person referred to in paragraph 1 adequately ensures the protection of property to which international sanctions apply, or if it is necessary to ensure its management, for example with regard to the expected duration of the international sanctions applicable to it, the Office will call for the release of such property. The person who has property subject to international sanctions shall, upon request by the Office, hand it over to the Office or to a person designated by it. Property not surrendered voluntarily can be withdrawn. A protocol shall be drawn up on the issue or withdrawal of property, in which a sufficiently precise description of the issued or withdrawn property shall be given.

A copy of the protocol is issued to the person who issued the property or from whom it was taken, as a confirmation of receipt of the item.

- (4) The provisions of paragraphs 1 to 3 also apply to property for which a notification obligation arises pursuant to Section 10 paragraph 1.
- (5) The Office shall hand over property subject to international sanctions to an authorized person, or to a person designated under letter b) or c), if
 - a) It is a person who is not subject to international sanctions and proves that he is the owner or authorized holder of this property,
 - b) the document according to Section 2 states that it is to be handed over to a specific person, or
 - c) the competent domestic state authority, or the competent authority of a foreign state or an international organization, whose decision is enforceable on the territory of the Czech Republic on the basis of international law, has made such a final decision.

PART FOUR

POWERS AND OBLIGATIONS OF STATE AUTHORITIES AND THE CZECH NATIONAL BANK

TITLE I

PROCEDURES RELATING TO PROPERTY SUBJECT TO INTERNATIONAL SANCTIONS

Section 12

Proceedings before the Office

- (1) The Office may, on the basis of an assessment, whether the property should be considered as property subject to international sanctions, decide
 - a) on the restriction or prohibition of dealing with this property,
 - b) on withdrawal of property that was not released upon request pursuant to Section 11, paragraph 3,
 - c) on the taking over of this property into the management of the state for the purpose of its management or subsequent handover to the authorized person,
 - d) on the appointment or dismissal of the administrator of this property and, where appropriate, also on his remuneration,
 - e) on the sale of this property or its part according to Section 13c,
 - f) on the exceptional use of property to which international sanctions apply, or part thereof, in the sense of Section 9 or under the conditions set out in a directly applicable regulation of the European Communities,
 - g) on the transfer of this property in the sense of Section 11 paragraph 5,
 - h) that it is not property subject to international sanctions, if
 1. the owner or authorized holder verifiably documents such a fact,
 2. such a fact emerges from the Office's investigation,
 3. such property is demonstrably worthless or of very little value, or
 4. the international sanction relating to it has been abolished, or
 - i) on the granting of consent pursuant to Section 12a paragraph 2 or Section 13e paragraph 1.
- (2) The Office shall publish the opinion part of the decision pursuant to paragraph 1 letter a) and h) points 1, 2 and 4 without unnecessary delay after the acquisition of legal force of the decision in a way that enables remote access, for a period of 5 years; if the publication in a specific case would be contrary to the public interest, obviously pointless or if it is necessary to protect the legitimate interests of third parties, the Office

- a) postpone publication until these obstacles have passed,
 - b) publishes the opinion part of the decision in anonymized form,
 - c) does not publish the opinion part of the decision, if the procedure according to letter a) or b) would not be sufficient, or
 - d) terminates the publication of the opinion part of the decision.
- (3) Within a period of 30 days from the receipt of the notification pursuant to Section 10 paragraph 1, the Office shall inform the notifier whether the property is considered to be property subject to international sanctions, unless it decides within this period pursuant to paragraph 1 letter a), b), c), g) or h). This period can be extended in justified cases.
 - (4) Appeal against the decision according to paragraph 1 letter a) to d) does not have a suspensive effect. Appeal against the decision according to paragraph 1 letter e) the suspensive effect can be withdrawn in the case of perishable property.
 - (5) The enforceability of a decision against which an appeal does not have a suspensive effect or for which the suspensory effect of an appeal has been excluded occurs on the day of its delivery to the last of the participants in the proceedings, who are the one on whose proposal the decision was made and the one who has property on which subject to international sanctions, at home, or by the person who issued it or from whom it was taken. In the event of a risk of delay, a decision against which an appeal has no suspensory effect or for which the suspensive effect of an appeal has been excluded may be announced orally; in that case, the decision becomes enforceable at the moment of its announcement.
 - (6) Proceedings in matters regulated by this Act shall proceed according to the Administrative Code, unless this Act provides otherwise.
 - (7) Authorized employees of the Office shall prove themselves with a service card when performing activities pursuant to this Act.
 - (8) The person in whose possession is the property about which the Office is conducting an investigation, or the person who has information about such property, shall, upon request, communicate to this Office within the period determined by it all the information he has about this property and, where applicable, other facts with related to it and to persons who are related to this property or participated in any way in handling it. At the request of the Office, they will submit documents about this property, persons or other facts related to this property, or allow access to them by authorized employees of the Office.
 - (9) For non-fulfilment of the obligation according to paragraph 8, the Office may impose an administrative fine of up to CZK 100,000. The administrative fine can be imposed repeatedly, if the obligation was not fulfilled even after the previous imposition of the fine. The total of fines imposed in this way may not exceed the amount of CZK 500,000. The disciplinary fine is an income of the state budget. The administrative fine is collected by the Office.

Section 12a

Effects of restriction or prohibition of disposal of property subject to international sanctions

- (1) Legal action, the subject of which is the disposal of property to which international sanctions apply, consisting in the restriction or prohibition of disposal of this property, which is contrary to such international sanction, shall not be taken into account.
- (2) Assets that are subject to international sanctions consisting in the restriction or prohibition of disposal of such assets may only be disposed of within the framework of a public auction or insolvency proceedings with the prior consent of the Office. Enforcement of a decision or execution on property subject to an international sanction consisting in the restriction or prohibition of dealing with this property can only be carried out with the prior consent of the Office.

- (3) If the Office deems it necessary to achieve the purpose of restricting or prohibiting the use of property subject to international sanctions, it shall also notify other authorities or persons who, according to special legal regulations, have a record of the restriction or prohibition of use of this property, supervisory or other duty in relation to this property or its owner or holder. At the same time, it calls those authorities or persons, if they become aware that the property is being dealt with in such a way as to risk the defeating the purpose of the restriction or prohibition on disposal, to notify the Office immediately. These bodies and persons are obliged to comply with such a call.
- (4) The provision of the criminal code on the effects of seizing is not affected by paragraph 2 or 3.

Section 13

Management of issued or withdrawn property

- (1) The management of the issued or withdrawn property for the duration of the international sanctions or until it is handed over to the authorized person is ensured by the Office, unless otherwise specified. In relation to this property, the Office is entitled to all actions and to all procedures related to its management and to which its owner would be entitled.
- (2) The Office keeps record of issued or withdrawn property in a separate register in a demonstrable and clear manner.
- (3) In administering the issued or withdrawn property, the Office is particularly obliged to properly protect this property and take care of its preservation, manage it efficiently and economically, protect it from damage, destruction, loss, theft or misuse, and in a timely manner assert a claim for compensation for damage and for the return of an object without reason enrichment, protect it by continuously monitoring whether debtors fulfil their obligations in a timely and proper manner, and in particular by timely application and enforcement of rights that otherwise belong to the owner, creditor or owner of securities, prevent the expiration or termination of these rights. At the same time, the office is not authorized to conclude, as a lessor, a contract for the provision of an item for use for use in connection with a contract for the subsequent transfer of ownership of this item, to conclude a contract for the sale of a business or its organizational components,
- (4) Management of issued or withdrawn

 - d) weapons, ammunition and explosives is carried out by the Ministry of the Interior.
- (5) According to the nature and scope of the things and rights that make up the issued or withdrawn property, the Office may entrust its management to the Office for State Representation in Property Matters.
- (6) If the management of the issued or withdrawn property cannot be carried out by the Office or the body authorized pursuant to paragraph 5, the Office shall, depending on the nature of the property, entrust the management of the state organizational unit.
- (7) If the management of issued or withdrawn property cannot be carried out by the Office, a body authorized pursuant to paragraph 5, or an organizational component of the state pursuant to paragraph 6, the Office may enter into an agreement on the management of issued or confiscated property with a person engaged in business in the relevant field. The content of such a contract must include the amount of payment for the performance of management and an agreement on responsibility for damage caused to the managed property during the performance of its management, otherwise the contract is invalid.

- (8) In relation to the issued or withdrawn property, the property administrator is authorized to represent the owner or other person authorized to dispose of the property in all actions or procedures related to its management and for which the owner or other person authorized to dispose of the property would be authorized. The scope of such authorization to represent the owner or other person authorized to dispose of the property may be modified by the Office in a decision or contract. The obligations and restrictions according to paragraph 3 apply similarly to the administrator's activities; the administrator also follows the Office's instructions in his activities.

Seizure of property by the Customs Administration of the Czech Republic

- (1) The Customs Administration of the Czech Republic may, regardless of the rights of third parties, seize property which, according to a reasonable assumption, could be property subject to international sanctions. The Customs Administration of the Czech Republic may also detain for the necessary time the means of transport that transports property subject to international sanctions.
- (2) The Customs Administration of the Czech Republic shall make a protocol or an official record of the seizure of property or means of transport. A copy of the protocol or official record will be handed over by the Customs Administration of the Czech Republic to the person who has the property or means of transport with him at the time of seizure, if he provides the necessary cooperation for this handover.
- (3) The Customs Administration of the Czech Republic informs the Office about the seizure of property without undue delay. The Office shall, without undue delay, inform the Customs Administration of the Czech Republic about the next procedure after making a decision in accordance with Section 12.
- (4) Authority of the Customs Administration of the Czech Republic

TITLE III

PROVISION OF INFORMATION AND OPINIONS OF THE AUTHORITY

Section 14

Collection of information and data

- (1) In order to fulfil the purpose of this Act, the Office is authorized to process information, including personal data. It processes personal data even without the consent of the data subject, with regard to protection against unauthorized interference with his/her private and personal life.
- (2) Public authorities, including territorial self-governing units performing state administration, provide the Office with information, including personal data, from the information systems managed by them at its request. In addition to fulfilling its purpose, the Office may use the information obtained pursuant to this Act only for the purposes of combating the legalization of the proceeds of crime⁷⁾ and the financing of terrorism.
- (3) The Office shall keep the information collected during the fulfilment of its obligations under this Act for the period necessary to fulfil its purpose. It can provide this information to the appropriate extent only in accordance with the authorizations according to Section 16 (4).
- (4) When operating in accordance with this Act and fulfilling its purpose, the Office uses information from the register, which is intended to fulfil obligations under a special legal regulation on measures against the legalization of the proceeds of crime and the financing of terrorism.
- (5) The Office is authorized to keep the data obtained during the implementation of this Act in the information system under the conditions stipulated by the special Act⁸⁾. For this purpose, he is authorized to combine information obtained under this Act with information collected under a special legal regulation on measures against the legalization of proceeds from criminal activity and the financing of terrorism in a single information system. Upon request pursuant to a special law, the Office shall not provide a report on information that is kept in the information system maintained pursuant to this Act, if this would jeopardize the performance of tasks pursuant to this Act.
- (6) If the Office discovers facts that justify the suspicion that a criminal offense has been committed, it shall make a notification in accordance with the criminal code and at the same time provide the law enforcement authority with all data and evidence about them available to it, if they are related to the notification.
- (7) In order to fulfil the purpose of international sanctions, the Office cooperates in particular in the transmission and acquisition of information to the extent determined by an international treaty to which the Czech Republic is bound, or on the basis of reciprocity with foreign authorities with the same or similar substantive competence in the field of international sanctions. Under the conditions that the information will be used only to achieve the purpose of this law and will enjoy protection at least to the extent stipulated by this law, the Office can also cooperate with international organizations.

Section 14a

Opinion and information for proceedings under this Act

- (1) The central state administration body, the intelligence service of the Czech Republic, the Police of the Czech Republic or the Czech National Bank shall, upon its request, provide the Office with the information or opinion necessary to establish the basis for issuing a decision in proceedings pursuant to this Act. The Police of the Czech Republic will refuse to provide information or an opinion if this would jeopardize the performance of their tasks. The transmission of information by the intelligence service of the Czech Republic is governed by the Act on Intelligence Services.
- (2) The information or opinion required to establish the basis for issuing a decision in proceedings pursuant to this Act provided by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs shall be kept separately outside the file.

TITLE IV

SUPERVISION OF THE IMPLEMENTATION OF INTERNATIONAL SANCTIONS

Section 15

Control

- (1) State authorities whose competence includes the exercise of control shall, in the exercise of their competence, also control the fulfilment of obligations under this Act; in other cases, the Office controls the fulfilment of obligations under this Act. In the event of detection of deficiencies, especially violations of obligations under this Act, the state authorities shall hand over the documents for the proceedings on the offense in matters relating to its substantive scope to the Ministry of Industry and Trade, in other matters to the Office, and further cooperate with them in these proceedings.
- (2) The Czech National Bank controls the fulfilment of obligations under this Act by persons subject to its supervision, within the scope of the activities over which it supervises these persons.

CHAPTER V

PROTECTION OF INFORMATION

Section 16

Duty of confidentiality

- (1) The employees of the Office and the bodies mentioned in Section 15 are obliged to maintain confidentiality regarding actions taken pursuant to this Act and information obtained during its implementation. The obligation to maintain confidentiality under this Act also applies to anyone who, in connection with an investigation carried out by the Office, becomes familiar with information obtained on the basis of this Act. The obligation to maintain confidentiality does not apply to publicly known information or information that may be entered in a public register, public record or public list pursuant to this Act.
- (2) The obligation of confidentiality of the persons referred to in paragraph 1 does not cease upon the termination of the employment or other relationship with the body referred to in Section 15.
- (3) The publication of generalized information that does not indicate which persons or things are concerned is not a violation of the obligation to maintain confidentiality.

- (4) The obligation to maintain confidentiality according to paragraphs 1 and 2 cannot be invoked against

 - e) to a court ruling in civil or administrative court proceedings on disputes relating to a claim arising from this Act,
 - f) to a person who could make a claim for compensation for property damage caused by the procedure according to this Act, if it is a subsequent communication of facts decisive for the application of such a claim; in that case, however, the relevant information can be limited or its communication can be postponed until the time when its provision cannot jeopardize the fulfilment of the purpose of this Act,
 - g) to a competent foreign authority when transferring data used to achieve the purpose established by this Act, unless special legal regulation prohibits it,
 - h) the relevant intelligence service of the Czech Republic when providing information important for the performance of its tasks,
 - i) to a financial arbitrator making a decision according to a special legal regulation in a dispute between the petitioner and the institution,
 - j) administrators of the asset management fee,
 - k) the administrator of the list or register pursuant to Section 13d paragraph 3 or the public authority that enters data or changes in them, and the authorized user of this list or register,
 - l) The Police of the Czech Republic or the Ministry of the Interior for the purposes of the procedure according to the law governing the stay of foreigners in the territory of the Czech Republic or the law governing asylum,
 - m) the government or the Ministry of Foreign Affairs when proceeding under the Sanctions Act or
 - n) the authority that provides an opinion or information pursuant to Section 14a.
- (5) If the Office submits a notification pursuant to Section 14 paragraph 6, it may pursuant to paragraph 3 letter e) or f) to provide information to the authorized party only with the consent of the relevant law enforcement authority.
- (6) The Prime Minister or a member of the government authorized by the Prime Minister, may, in justified cases, exempt a person pursuant to paragraph 1 from the obligation to maintain confidentiality. Persons who have incurred an obligation to maintain confidentiality in connection with the performance of the Czech National Bank's mandate may be released from the obligation to maintain confidentiality only with the consent of the Czech National Bank.

Section 16a

Terms of providing information

- (1) The Office or body pursuant to Section 15 shall provide information pursuant to Section 16 (4), for the purpose and to the extent defined by this Act. The extent of the information provided will be recorded in the file.

- (2) The office or authority pursuant to Section 15 may provide information pursuant to Section 16 (4), in accordance with the procedure agreed in a written agreement concluded between them and the relevant public authority.
- (3) According to Section 15, the office and body creates the conditions for compliance with the obligation of confidentiality. This also applies to access and protection of data stored in electronic form.
- (4) Persons who have become familiar with the information provided by the Office or body pursuant to Section 15 may use it only for the purposes set forth in this Act and are bound by confidentiality obligations in accordance with this Act regarding this information. The competent public authority that requested the information is responsible for creating the conditions for compliance with the obligation of confidentiality. Section 16 (6), shall be applied mutatis mutandis for exemption from the obligation to maintain confidentiality.
- (5) The use of information obtained during the implementation of international sanctions for actions that benefit the person bound by this obligation or another person, or the use of such information for actions that could cause harm to someone, is also considered a violation of the obligation to maintain confidentiality.
